THE SITUATION IN KENTUCKY. The present aspect of affairs in Kentucky far more encouraging than it was thirty days ago. The whole force of the enemy under Gen. Buent in this department, as we have before published, is thought to be about one hundred and ten thousand strong. Against this army we are enabled to state, upon satisfactory data. that the Confederate government can bring a force of between ninety and a hundred thousand men, all of whom are now under arms in Ken-

A Pederal column of eighty thousand has long been threatening Bowling Green, and has led to the very probable opinion that the great battle of the war in the West will be fought within that gates by which men of all nations enter and vicinity. Our latest advices from this point are derived from a personal interview with the Hon-JOHN W. CROCKETT, a member of the Provisional Council of Kentucky, whom we had the believed to be as impossible as its design is exepleasure of seeing in the city on yesterday. In emsequence of the apprehended advance move ment on the part of the enemy, Gen. JOHNSTON has been active and energetic in his preparation of defense, and has had large accessions to his army from various quarters-sufficiently large, we are happy to learn, to raise the general exthe latter delays his attack very much longer.

It is generally surmised by our military officers that if Bornt does make an advance it will he in three columns—one movement in front and right, Gen. FLOYD's brigade is now stationed on the Ginscow and Bardstown tumpike, which is something over twenty miles east of headquarters; and Brigadier-General CLARKE is stationed | rebels the full benefit of our military preparations, at Hopkinsville, with five or six thousand men, to oppose the successful advance of Gen. Tox. CRITTENDEN, who, when last heard from, was at Calhoun, sixty-five miles from Hopkinsville and eighty from Bowling Green. Gen. Jouxston's position is thus well guarded, and is deemed very nearly impregnable.

Gen. ZOLLICOFFER still remains nine miles south of the Cumberland river, well fortified, and only twenty miles from Gen. Schoer, who, with a small force, has made a stand at Columbia, the county seat of Wayne county, in Eastern Kentucky.

the State with only three thousand men, has been pressing steadily northward, increasing his gallant little command at every step. When last heard from he was at Prestonsburg, with 7000 men, and was moving on towards the Blue Grass region. His advance guard was at Hazle Green, eighty miles from Lexington. Large reinforcements are said to be flocking to him daily from Bourbon, Bath, Montgomery, Harrison and Nicholas counties, and he hopes to organize an army by next spring large enough to capture Lexington. Gen. Pore, the Federal with 5000 men, who were to have been reinforced by as many more recently sent from

The Provisional government of the State, a will be remembered, has voted to raise thirty placed under command of that distinguished Kentuckian, Gen. WM. E. PRESTON, who is constituted commander-in-chief of the State forces. Whether this effort be attended with a complete or only a partial success, the situation in Kentaky instifies us in the conviction that southern arms will be attended with a series of successes in that State upon the opening of the spring campaign, altogether commensurate with the ardent hopes of our people. As it is fully understood throughout the South that no treaty of peace can ever be accepted in this war that does not yield Kentucky, and the other Slave States to our Confederacy, the future movements of Gen. Synney Johnson, so programt with vast results, will be watched by the country with the

The extracts from late British journals which we find copied in northern papers, show a deepseated and active hostility toward the United States, engendered in consequence of the Trent affair. They seem to be fond of disparaging Yankee valor, discrediting Yankee institutions and ridiculing Yankee resources. The latest number of the Loudon Times has a severe review of Lencoun's message, from which we take the following extract:

The South, not content with question right of the North to govern them, they have even gone to the extent of questioning the wis-dow of certain northern institutions. Thus perzons are actually found to wish for a restriction of the suffrage; to contend, in spite of the evi-dence afforded by the North of the purity of election, and the high moral and intellectual qualities secured by such a process, that it is better election should be confined to legislators, and not extended to magistrates; and some have even been heard to protounce the horrible name of "monarchy." No wonder that Mr. Lincoln, luxuriating in the paradisc to which the will of an unbridled democracy has introduced him, has been published, in which it is stated that ment and making defenses generally, and he was and looking forward to a desperate struggle with during the year the amount of bullion coined in no wise inclined to give back. The coins scouts. and the existing Constitution of the United struck amounted to $63,500,587, of which sum States as little short of perfection! We have nothing to say for slavery, but if Mr. Lincoln's 440,507, description of the South is indeed true—if she is delphia: fighting to emancipate herself from the blind tyranny of a degraded mab, from elective judges and elective governors—he has given his antag-enists a better title to European sympathy than they trave hitherto possessed, and thrown upon his government the stigma of institutions which have already brought it to the verge of ruin. Several of the London journals, on the cont ary, are enthusiastic in their praise of President

The following from the same article as the bove, contains what a northern paper, before us, construes into "a most effensive menace: The blockade has been so notoriously a failure hat nothing but the extraordinary scrupulous of the European powers have allowed it to continue. Ships have passed in and out at all times just as they pleased, and, so far as the hurbors ar cerned, there has never been any difficulty in ting into them or getting out of them. Federal government has itself emphatically admitted the failure of their naval blockade by an act of barbarity which is unparalleled in the hisory of national wars.
